BOVRIL AT THE FRONT.

Boyril has played such a conspicuous part in South Africa that it forms no inconsiderable feature of the story. The Lancet' has had frequent references to Bovril in the reports of the officers of the Royal Army Medical Corps. Nearly every newspaper correspondent has had to refer to Bovril to make his story complete. Hongkong, September 18, 1902. 1918 Rudyard Kipling and Balen-Powell have written their Boyril stories. #### The Kniser and his Polish Subjects.

London, September 3.—The Kaiser vesterday entered Poson, his visit to which town had been anticipated in Germany with some apprehension, in view of His Majesty's utterances on the Polish question. Despite a strong military display, his reception was friendly.

Replying to the Burgomaster's address of welcome, the Kaiser made a mild speech, and said that he had ordered the abolition of the Military radius round fortifications in order to permit an over-crowded city to extend its boundaries.

September 4:-The Kulner has reviewed 30,000 troops. Addressing the Governor of Warsaw, and the officers of the Kaiser's Russian regiments, who were invited to Poson, the Kaiser referred to the comradeship of arms and true friendship of the Russian and German Armies. He reiterated the same sentiments when proposing the health of the Tsar, at a banquet in the even-

Later-The tramwaymen in Florence have joined the strike. Strong reinforcements of troops have arrived. September 2 .- 24 trades are involved in the strike at Florence, which has been occupied by 8,000 troops. Later-Most trades at Florence have suddenly returned to work. The metal workers, whose grievances originated the Movement, have not yet returned. September 4.—The strikes at Florence have ended.

THE LATE MR CECIL RHODES.

Reported Bequest to the Countess of Warwick.

London, August 23rd.-It is reported that the late Mr Cecil Rhodes left the Countess of Warwick South African lands worth £200,000. -Australian paper.

[The Countess of Warwick is a wellknown leader of society, identified with many public movements. She has founded on her estate in Essex a successful needlework school, with a depot in Bond Street, a hostel at Reading in connection with the college for the training of daughters of professional men in horticulture, dairy, bee and poultry keeping. She has also founded on her Essex estate a science and technical school for boys and girls in the rural district of Essex, and at Warwick, a home for seventeen crippled children for an un-limited length of stay. She is the presi-dent of the Essex Needlework Guild and many other societies. At Warwick Castle and at Easton Lodge she has established a complete organisation for the welfare of the poor and the nursing of the sick.]

will probably be the largest undertaking of its kind for very many years. It is supported by the United States Covernment, which has voted £1,400,000 towards its guarantee fund and is doing all in its power to make the exhibition a success. The exhibition is, in its way, a historical event, and marks the first step towards the expansion of the United States. It celebrates the centenary of the purchase of the Louisiana Territory from France in 1803-a tract of country comprising 1,000,000 square miles, or a third of the total area of the United States as we know them to-day. The Territory was divided into fourteen States, and comprises the whole of the Missouri Valley, probably highly praised by the local press. Madame

False Notes in an Organ.

"False Notes in an Organ ' is the appropriate heading of the capture of a band of forgers at Warsaw. A domiciliary visit had to be paid by the police to a house, and on the arrival of the officers no opposition was offered to their entry. Inside one of the rooms, however, they found a man playing a cabinet organ, and all the time the visit lasted the man remained at the organ. As they were about to leave the house the officer in charge of the police, being something of a musician himself, asked the performer to play the Russian National Hymn before they left. This the man did, but the policeman was not pleased with the performance, and complained that the player did not put enough expression into the melody. The man explained that he was unable to do so, as the loud pedal performer set to work to do so. Great was utterances. He denies any hostile moves, his surprise on opening the instrument to discover that the pedal would not work because of the bundles of forged notes that

His Lordship (to the prisoner)-You have pleaded guilty to having escaped from prison on the 27th September, 1898. It seems you had been banished as an undesirable character, and that you returned before the period of your punishment was over. You were therefore sentenced, as is usual, totwelve months' imprisonment. You underwent some six months of that sentence, and then you managed to escape. Of course, it is wrong to escape, although it is a very natural thing to do so if you can. is the duty of those who have you in I must see that you don't gain anything by your escaping. Evidence was then heard in the charge against Ho Wing, watchman, of conspiring with Choy Ping and others to procure passages for six men to Manila by the Loungsang without the knowledge of the owners

Capt. G. S. Weigall, master of the s.s. Loongsang, stated that his steamer arrived at Manila on the 5th inst., having left Hongkong on the nd inst. He had been ashore, and on the afternoon of the 8th inst. he went on board and found the crow and compradore's staff mustered on the after deck. He instructed his officers to make a search for stowaways. Two men were found in the fore-hold by the third officer. One belonged to ship and the other was a stranger. He left Manils on the 12th inst., and prior to leaving he informed that the ship was fined $500 gold for allowing one Chinaman to escape into Manila. When he arrived at Hongkong, the police came on board, and enother search was made. In the forward star board room on the compradore's side they -found a cask. It looked like a full cask of rice, but upon examination they found that the cask was turned upside down, with some rice sprinkled on the bottom, and that the accused was underneath the inverted cask. ·Victor Cooper, third officer, S. S. Loongsang, and other witnesses gave evidence. The accused was found guilty, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 or suffer six months' imprisonment.

The Painting of Warships. At length the vexed question of what is the best colour to paint warships in order to lesson their visibility at sea under various conditions of weather appears to have been decided (says the Globe), and it has been directed that in future all W. Dixon ....... 148 30 525 28 18.75 newly-commissioned ships shall be painted grey over all, including funnels, masts, and boats. But why confine the matter to newly-commissioned ships? If the Admiralty are certain, as a result of the experiments which they have made, that they have at length succeeded in fixing upon the proper colour, it should be a very easy matter to alter the whole fleet. There is ease.'-The Humanitarian. ### A FALLACY EXPOSED.

A correspondent signing himself 'M' writes as follows in the N.-C. Daily News of the 15th inst. :--

In a contributed article which appeared in one of your evening contemporaries on Thursday last, there is given a statement of figures (described as 'astonishing,' which it is) purporting to show that the import and mercial Treaty represent '65 times increase on our excise (sic) charges, or a percentage of 666 per cent in favour of the astuto

The statement is as follows :-In 1869/71 the duty on £100 im-

Naval Architecture.

The Martell Scholarship in Naval Architecture offered for competition for the first time this year, has been awarded by the Council of the Institution of Naval Architects to Mr L. Woollard, of the Thames Ironworks, Blackwall. The Scholarship is of the annual value of £50, and is tenable for three years.

According to the Berlin newspapers, an English engineer one evening gave a flower girl in a well-known café a gold 20-mark pieco in mistake for a 1-mark piece for some roses which he had bought from her. Directly she noticed what had happened. the girl returned to the Englishman with 12-mark change. This evidence of honesty excited the visitor's interest in the flower girl, and the end of the story is that he O. M. G. Burnic..... 9 - 98 30 10.88 fell in love with her, and has taken her W. E. Dixon ...... 8 - 83 28 10.37 to England as his wife. This story will probably be regarded by one of our contemporaries to be evidence of the scarcity of honesty in Europe.
